Do you know your individual risk?

Prostate Cancer Conversations

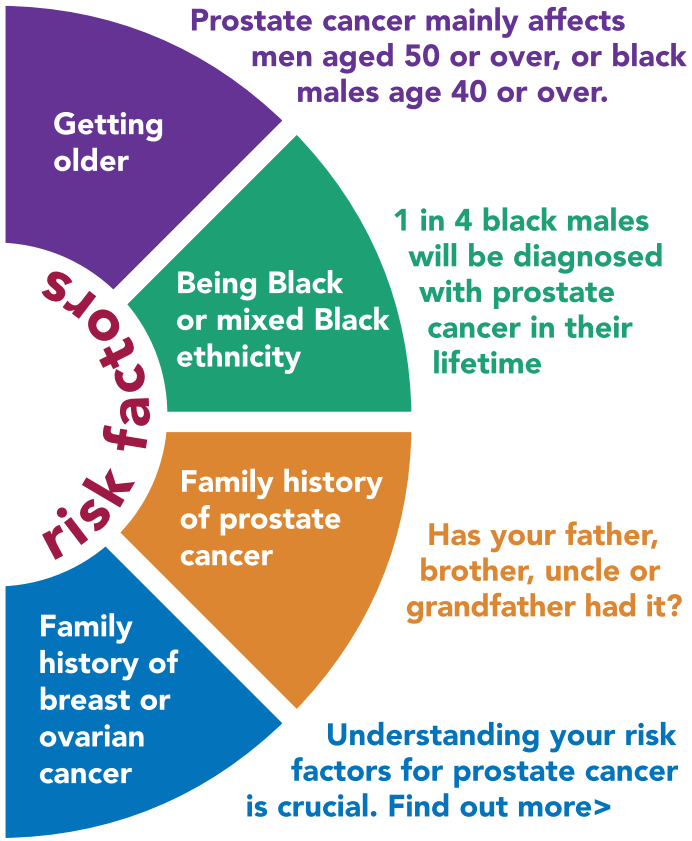
1 in 8 males will be diagnosed with prostate cancer in their lifetime

Rising to 1 in 4 for black males

What's your risk?

Prostate cancer is the most commonly diagnosed cancer in men in the UK

Some experience no symptoms at all.
So it's vital to understand your risk factors - things that might mean you're more likely to get prostate cancer than others.



I know my risks

Will there be signs?

Some males experience no symptoms at all, particularly in the early stages.

But some experience the following symptoms as the cancer progresses:

- Having problems with your pee (like difficulty starting or maintaining your pee, pain when peeing, needing to pee often and urine leakage)
- Pain when ejaculating
- Blood in pee or semen
- Finding it difficult to get an erection or maintain one

If you have any concerns about your risk of prostate cancer or experience any symptoms, speak to your GP.
